

GRAND MACNISH

RUM CASK EDITION

LIMITED RELEASE DOUBLE MATURED SERIES

First created by Glasgow merchant Robert McNish in 1863, the proud blending tradition of Grand Macnish that so captivated Ernest Hemingway continues with this unique batch numbered, limited edition range of double matured blended Scotch whisky. This whisky has first matured in Kentucky-built American oak bourbon barrels before being finished in secondary Sherry or Rum barrels for the last months.

The Grand Macnish Double Matured series is distilled, matured, blended, finished and bottled in Scotland at 43% abv (86 proof). This Limited Edition Series is strictly a batch-bottled series, with the first consisting of 5,400 bottles.

MASTER BLENDER SCOTT SNEDDON

The man behind the Grand Macnish Double Matured Series is Master Blender, Scott Sneddon. At 44, Scott Sneddon has a wealth of experience from his many years in the whisky industry. While relying on his nose when creating the whiskies, Scott Sneddon also has hands-on experience from his many years managing distilleries, having spent ten years with Glen Ord and Glenkinchie distilleries before moving to the InchDairnie Distillery, a young distillery on the forefront of flavor innovations. He has been Distillery Manager since 2015 and Master Blender for Grand Macnish.

AGED 13 YEARS RUM CASK EDITION

The full finishing time of Batch 1 is close to one year allowing the rum sweetness to influence the mature whisky. The rum barrels were chosen by Master Blender Scott Sneddon for their character, richness and potential impact on the whisky.

Only 16 barrels from Trinidad, Jamaica and Nicaragua were used creating this Limited Edition First Batch of Grand Macnish Double Matured Rum Cask Edition Aged 13 Years bottled in August 2018 in Glasgow. Prior to bottling, the whisky in the rum barrels was monitored every month during the finishing time until deemed ready for bottling.
