

GRAND MACNISH

SHERRY CASK EDITION

LIMITED RELEASE DOUBLE MATED SERIES

First created by Glasgow merchant Robert McNish in 1863, the proud blending tradition of Grand Macnish that so captivated Ernest Hemingway continues with this unique batch numbered, limited edition range of double mated blended Scotch whisky. This whisky has first mated in Kentucky-built American oak bourbon barrels before being finished in secondary Sherry or Rum barrels for the last months.

The Grand Macnish Double Mated series is distilled, mated, blended, finished and bottled in Scotland at 43% abv (86 proof). This Limited Edition Series is strictly a batch-bottled series, with the first consisting of 5,400 bottles.

MASTER BLENDER SCOTT SNEDDON

The man behind the Grand Macnish Double Mated Series is Master Blender, Scott Sneddon. At 44, Scott Sneddon has a wealth of experience from his many years in the whisky industry. While relying on his nose when creating the whiskies, Scott Sneddon also has hands-on experience from his many years managing distilleries, having spent ten years with Glen Ord and Glenkinchie distilleries before moving to the InchDairnie Distillery, a young distillery on the forefront of flavor innovations. He has been Distillery Manager since 2015 and Master Blender for Grand Macnish.

AGED 15 YEARS SHERRY CASK EDITION

The full finishing time of Batch 1 is over one year, allowing the rich Oloroso Sherry to caress and further soften the mature whisky, bringing the full maturation time to over 15 years. The casks are built and toasted to a medium level. The casks are then filled with a conditioning wine for two years to avoid oakiness in the Oloroso. The first wine is emptied out and any repairs required are done to the casks at this point. The casks are then filled with the Oloroso Sherry for a further two years before being emptied, nosed, passed for quality and sent to Scotland where they were filled with the Grand Macnish whisky. The 7 casks were then monitored every month during the finishing time until deemed ready for bottling.

NOSE: Waves of richness reach the senses with soft sherry notes, touches of vanilla and honey-dipped fruit

TASTE: A rich and velvety welcome on the tongue with warmth spreading all over. This Grand whisky is behaving like a slow-motion food fight with vanilla fruitcake, creamy sherry and rich plums being tossed around.

FINISH: Warming, caressing and lingering
